SPAULDING'S UNTRIED TEAM THE WINNER

Game Had to Be Stopped in Sixth Because of Rain

Spaulding high school started her 1916 baseball season on Lincoln campus Saturday afternoon with a 5 to 0 victory over the Montpelier seminary team. This score represents the standing in the sixth inning when the rain, which started to fall at the end of the third, had made ball and bat so slippery that both sides agreed that it was useless to prolong the game.

Spaulding sent upon the field an untried team. Johnston was the only man on the team who had ever played a regular position for Spaulding and the lack of good weather for practice before the game had given Coach Brown little opportunity to judge the value of his candidates. Nichols and Vanetti made up Spaulding's battery, though even this was uncertain until the last moment, when it was discovered that Vanetti's standing in his classes was high enough to allow him to play.

Montpelier went to bat first but the first two men who faced the Spaulding pitcher struck out and the third popped an easy fly to Ricciarelli. Osola, for Spaulding, fled out to Marr. Ricciarelli secured a free pass. Thompson struck out and Johnston rolled an easy grounder to Hatch, who reached the base first for an out. In the second inning Nichols again struck out two of the three men who faced him. The Spaulding pitcher also secured a hit in his turn at bat but was thrown out by St. Mary when he tried to steal second. Geals and Lorange struck out.

In the first of the third Holway and Bisbee of the seminary team were out on grounders to Osola and Thompson and Hatch struck out. Spaulding in this same inning secured her first two scores. Mann was up first and reached his base on Grunai's error, going to second on the next play when Holway made a wild pitch. Vanetti fled out. Osola went to first on an error by Clark, while Mann took third. Ricciarelli struck out. Two costly errors by Irons and Marr, who failed to catch the flies hit by Thompson and Johnson, allowed Mann and Osola to score. Nichols was out on a ground rap to first base.

The game from now on was played

ENRICH THE BLOOD

Hood's Sarsaparilla, a Spring Tonic Medicine, Is Necessary

Everybody is troubled at this season with loss of vitality, failure of appetite, that tired feeling, or with bilious turns, dull headaches, indigestion and other stomach troubles, or with pimples and other eruptions on the face and body. The reason is that the blood is impure and impoverished.

Hood's Sarsaparilla relieves all these ailments. It is the old reliable medicine that has stood the test of forty years—that makes pure, rich, red blood—that strengthens every organ and builds up the whole system. It is the all-the-year-round blood purifier and health-giver. It embodies the careful training, experience, and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure.

under difficulties, for a hard shower of rain interfered greatly with the work of the players. Several times the bat left the hands of the men who were trying to use it and went skimming along the ground to third base, and the ball also became soggy and hard to handle. A conference between the coaches, however, resulted in the continuance of the game. Neither team scored again until the last of the sixth inning.

In the first part of this inning Bisbee and Hatch struck out. Marr reached first when Geals failed to catch Thompson's bad throw and stole second. St. Mary struck out, leaving Marr on second. Nichols was up first for Spaulding and went out on a ground ball to Marr. Geals swung the next ball to left field, where it fell in a puddle of water beyond the road and the batter reached home before Cady had located its position. This occurrence started off the Spaulding team, for Lorange and Mann, the next two men up, each secured a hit. Clark threw over second base in an effort to catch Mann and Lorange scored. Grunai got rattled on the next play and threw to first too late to catch Vanetti, while Mann came home. Osola fanned and the game was called off.

Nichols pitched a fine game, striking out 11 of the 20 men who faced him and allowing no free passes. Holway struck out five men and passed two.

SCORE WAS 6 TO 2 IN LOOSE CONTEST

Coach Hoernle's Pitching
Staff Seems to Be Good

Norwich varsity and second-string baseball tossers lowered their colors to Coach Charlie Hoernle's rejuvenated Goddard seminary team at the campus Saturday afternoon, the scoring indicator registering a 6 to 2 victory for the Barre school boys in the 1916 curtain riser. Lusty Goddard wallpops accounted for a plethora of runs in the fourth inning and then rain compelled everybody to lower their colors and hike for cover when the first half of the fifth chapter had been chronicled in current baseball history. About the best that may be said for the contest was that it was an interesting try-out, with neither team showing the form that may be expected a fortnight hence.

Generalissimo Hoernle sent Tommy Davidson to the eminence for three innings, substituted Shepard, a crafty Boston lad, in the fourth and was planning to give Richmond Dan Keefe a look-in at the end of the sixth. But a sleety deluge put the kibosh on the coach's program. Norwich came over with a loosely knit bundle of baseball units that looked as though they might develop into a pretty fair outfit when the weather ripens. Goddard's infield, insofar as it has come along much more rapidly than infields are wont to advance, was a revelation to the small crowd of students and downtown people who foregathered. Spectacular plays in the four and one-half runner long-drawn-out contest that made up the event must be listed as among the missing and unaccounted for. Nevertheless, as it was the first opportunity that the fans have had since the mellow days of last September to vent their enthusiasm, most anything the two teams laid to offer was welcome. After all, the game's the thing.

Davidson had his own way with the codets during his brief term on the firing line, as only nine men faced him. In the fourth inning, with Laughlin picking his way back to the bench after fanning, Hooker went down on balls, advanced to second on a poor peg and scored when Goodrich rapped a smart one to right for four bases. Matthews having fanned, McIver's strike-out retired the side. Goddard's artillery set up a fearful can-

Enjoy Life! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive, and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cod. Why don't you get a box of Cascarabs from the drug store and eat one or two to-night and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarabs never gripe or sicken like salts, pills and calomel. They act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a cathartic. nonading in the last of the fourth and with the rain pouring a young torrent over the diamond, Faulkner, Connor, Lyons and Quinn connected safely. Two hits were registered by Faulkner and Lyons, the latter negotiating his second safe one when he grounded through short field. The dull monotony of base running was broken when Shea retired the side by flying out to Matthews. After that, the seminary took the field long enough to send three cadets to the bench in quick succession.

Morse-Made Clothes Lead Their Class

¶ The first reason why Morse-Made clothes are so well known—and so well liked is that there is a dollar's worth of real wear for every dollar on the price mark.

¶ Another reason why union men in particular like to buy Morse-Made garments is because they know the clothes that come from the Morse shops are made under the ideal conditions for which all labor unions stand.

¶ Let us show you our new spring suit models in Morse-Made garments.

Brief Decisions.
Five innings of cold comfort for the unprepared.
Moulton, a rooky twirler, was held in reserve on the Norwich bench and his services would have been required but for the storm.

One demerit for the bad move that Lyons pulled in the first inning. Some of the crabbings that came from the bleachers was deserved and some of it might better have been left unsaid.

Shepard, a former Brighton, Mass., high pitcher, is to be one of the Hoernle mainstays this year.

He has the assortment, but can stand a good bit of coaching.

Lamere handled a smoking grounder in the third.

According to the last census, the town of Fletcher, up near the frontier, is blessed with a skimming station, two good views of the sunset and a fine location for a campmeeting, but if Outfielder Berry is a sample of its baseball output, the 1920 statistician will have to revise the record. The youngster looked good in practice.

Goodrich's skyrocket home run left nobody in doubt as to where he must have hit the ball.

Lyons and Davidson, well known in baseball circles about town, were among the more recent arrivals in the student body at Goddard.

Next Saturday's game with B. A. C. having been postponed, Goddard has taken on the Italian A. C.

Martin Shea got a part of his baseball training with St. Johnsbury last summer.

Before skipping the next decision put yourself in the place of the reporter, who is bound to stick the game through, come what may.

There is something to be said in favor of the coach who will not hazard an epidemic of pneumonia among his men by exposing them to the rigors of an April winter. If the negation of apparel is not so apparent among baseball players as it is at the beach, the fact remains that most of those who chase the horsehide are rather thinly clad and to suffer them to play the game in a pitiless downpour of icy shrapnel certainly is not the better part of wisdom. Sport ceases to be sport in the moment when spectators and players alike begin to feel the discomforts of an atmospheric disturbance such as prevailed Saturday. An ounce of unalloyed common sense is worth more than all the bob-tailed victories in the annals of baseball.

A comic writer for the Sunday papers explodes the popular theory that the rock of Gibraltar is owned by a well-known insurance company with the assertion that England has a first mortgage on the big boulder. But what we are about to say is that Bill Quinn is the same old tower of strength behind the bat.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Stamford, Conn., Nurse Tells How She Found Health

Stamford, Conn.—"I am a nurse and suffered from a nervous breakdown. I had no appetite and could not sleep at night, and nothing seemed to help me. By chance I heard of Vinol, and after taking the first bottle I noticed an improvement, and four bottles made me well and strong, it gave me a hearty appetite, so I can sleep soundly tonight. I consider Vinol a wonderful tonic." Edith R. Forbes, Stamford, Conn.

The reason Vinol is so successful in overcoming such conditions is because it is a constitutional remedy and goes to the seat of the trouble. It is the greatest strength creator we know—due to the extractive medicinal elements of fresh cod livers without oil, combined with peptonate of iron and beef peptonate, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine.

We have seen so many wonderful recoveries like this right here in Barre, caused by Vinol, that we feel perfectly safe in offering to return money in every such case where Vinol fails to benefit.
